Rapid Detection & Response

World class managed breach detection for the mid-market

The single biggest risk, acknowledged by most mid market businesses in the UK is a cyber security breach. Most businesses accept that they likely will be breached, but many have no technology in place to alert them when it happens.

We use the world-class Rapid Detection & Response breach detection platform from cyber security experts, F-Secure. Our security analysts work from our dedicated security operations centre in Cambridge to provide a comprehensive breach detection capability for a fraction of the cost of building your own team and solution.

I think more than anything we've bought valuable peace of mind; we now know almost immediately if we are breached.

Making the Case for a Managed Breach Detection Service…

The Challenge

✕ Most organisations simply don't know if they've been breached or not.

✕ Static defences are nowhere near 100% effective against attackers.

✕ Building good breach detection and response systems is difficult.

✕ Attackers are extremely cautious about getting caught.

The Solution

✓ You'll have full detection & response up and running in days.

✓ F-Secure's dynamic system is effective and we'll let you know inside 30 mins.

✓ You won't need to hire your own experts or build your own systems.

✓ We are just as diligent about catching them!

Take Action
